FYI, members of the Social Justice Committee of the Unitarian Church of Vancouver are promoting the idea of having the war resisters' monument at their Church in Vancouver. Originally proposed to be erected in Nelson, B.C., it was decided that while the Our Way Home Reunion project (<http://www.ourwayhomereunion.com/>) will go ahead as planned, the monument would likely be erected elsewhere. The Vancouver location is not a fait accompli by any means at this time, just some seeding to see if it will take root. To read the article and view the proposed monument, go to <http://www.vancouver.unitarians.ca> then click on "Who we are" then on "Monthly Bulletin" and click on June issue. Scroll to page 7.

Read the CLBC Business Plan for 2005 and weep! <http://www.communitylivingbc.ca/whatsnew.htm#june15> Our worst fears are being realized in terms of this being the "Do it yourself" model. And all of a sudden, it's not just the adults at risk but all of kids' services (including autism!).

Inner Sanctuary in Sechelt is seeking roommates/soulmates for short or long term rentals. A playful, creative temple devoted to the divine in all, Inner Sanctuary (IS) is a place to be inspired, further awaken consciousness, work, create, play, dream, activate and share all that you BE, ARE and DO. Looking for conscious souls who are self-responsible, self-sufficient, prosperity conscious, fun, energetic and community-minded. IS, a taste of heaven, the place we all reside, is a gateway on your journey to co-creating a new world order based on Love, Peace and Ancient spiritual principles. We welcome you to come explore all possibilities. Nightly visits are now per donation, as we are looking to go non-profit. Fully furnished rooms -

Karmic Yoga possibilities (partial work exchange - a few renovations in progress & outer sanctuary gardens)

Rent: $450 monthly or $125 weekly (kama sutra $225 weekly, includes ensuite)

Perfect opportunity for Healers/Teachers/Writers/Artists/Travellers/Community Builders. All are welcome and anything and everything is possible to a willing heart!

North Vancouver

As my sweet son, Dustin (14) is moving to Toronto this weekend to live with his Dad for at least a year (a challenging transition for me), we have a 2-bdrm. rental suite in Lynn Valley (near Canyon) for the balance of July/August (or longer). I am in the process of purging tons of stuff which is all available for sale, but in the meantime the space is fully furnished, so I am remaining open to all possibilities. I will be posting a list of items soon.

Large 900 sq. feet. 2 Living rooms, gas f/p, desks, shaw internet still hooked up, full kitchen, stereo, w/d.

Currently there is a double bed and double bunk bed, as well as a single mattress and sectional couch, so tons of room.

1-4 people sharing the rent of $1300 month or $325 week.

2. THE WILD PARROTS OF TELEGRAPH HILL

A Film by JUDY IRVING

A thoroughly absorbing portrait of one man's discipline and commitment --and, yes, spiritual transformation... Quite simply, a beautiful film, in both form and content. You'll laugh. You'll cry. And your heart is guaranteed to soar."

- Ann Hornaday, WASHINGTON POST

The true story of a Bohemian St. Francis and his remarkable relationship with a flock of wild red-and-green parrots. Mark Bittner, a former street musician in San Francisco, falls in love with the flock as he searches for meaning in his life, unaware that the wild parrots will bring him everything he needs.

*****More about Prison Justice Day -- August 10th.

August 10th is a day set aside each year when prisoners and supporters gather to honour the memory of the men and women who have died unnatural deaths inside of Canadian prisons. On August 10th, 1974, Eddie Nalon bled to death in a solitary confinement unit at Millhaven Maximum Security Prison near Kingston, Ontario, when the emergency call button in his cell failed to work. An inquest into his death found that the call buttons in unit had been deactivated by the guards. Following the death of another prisoner in 1976, in that same unit, it was discovered that the call buttons had not been repaired. Prisoners mark the anniversary of these deaths by fasting and refusing to work.

What started as a one time event behind the walls of one prison has become a national day of solidarity. On this day, prisoners across the country fast, refuse to work, and remain in their cells, while supporters organize community events to draw attention to the conditions inside of prisons.

Prisoner deaths from murder, suicide, and neglect, can and must be prevented.

Cuban people have faced a US-imposed economic blockade, terrorism and aggression from the United-States, and yet they have risen to the #1 position in Latin America for life expectancy, literacy, and healthcare. The people of Cuba have done this with the vision built by the July 26th Movement, with their dedication to the principles and implementation of voluntary work, mass mobilization and internationalism.

On July 26th in Vancouver, along with millions around the world, come celebrate the July 26th movement, the gains of the Cuban Revolution, and the ongoing peoples' struggle for change.---

11. FORREX AGM & SCIENCE FORUM

Forests and Natural Resources in the 22nd Century

FORREX Annual General Meeting & Science Forum

AUGUST 31 - SEPTEMBER 1, 2005 Thompson Rivers University KAMLOOPS, BRITISH COLUMBIA CANADA

What will our forested ecosystems look like in the year 2100? Will society flourish from a sustained supply of goods and services from our forested environment? How are science, technology and innovative practices being applied to ensure a continued supply of water and other natural resource products and services?

Many of the solutions for tomorrow are being developed through research, development and management today. With an ever changing social and political agenda and a dynamic-by-nature environment, science and technology can be used to learn from today and predict for tomorrow. The FORREX Annual General Meeting and Science Forum will introduce current highlights in global forest science and local innovative adaptations to integrated resource management challenges. Come see and hear what your partners in natural resources innovation have been up to.

Simon Fraser University

515 West Hastings Street, Vancouver, BC

Conducted by

Enid G. Wolf-Schein, Ed.D., CCC-SLP Adjunct Professor, University of Alberta

What is SMILE?

SMILE is a systematic, multisensory communication development program that engages children as they progress through basic attending, phonemic awareness and sound/letter knowledge to the use of language in a descriptive and conversational manner. SMILE is a method of teaching speech, reading and writing to children with severe language and communication delays. It begins with phonemes (the building blocks of speech) and progresses to the development of short stories. It also incorporates development of attention, specific and consistent teaching methodology, use of structure, routine and immediate reinforcement. Ongoing attention to generalization ensures that the pupil does not end up with a series of splinter skills that are not functional. SMILE is based on the Association Method, which uses a combination of visual, auditory, tactile and kinesthetic associations.

Who Should Attend this Workshop?

ACT has brought back Dr. Wolf-Schein because of the very positive response to her initial ACT workshop held in May 2004. Teachers, speech pathologists, educational assistants and parents have reported that SMILE is an effective low-tech, multisensory methodology that can be individualized for children and teenagers who are speaking or reading very little or not at all. It can be easily adapted for students who are using an ABA approach in their early intervention program to encourage them to speak. It is also useful as an approach to teaching reading for school-age children who need a more individualized, phonetic approach.

For Which Students is SMILE Appropriate?

This method can be successfully used with any pupil who has a severe language-learning disability who has not improved despite special intensive efforts to encourage acquisition of speech and language. Generally these children do not imitate easily or generalize readily. They often seem to have problems with auditory memory, and they may lack expressive speech in the presence or absence of language comprehension. Children with an inability to express or to understand language symbols are a diverse group with respect to their disorder. They may be classified as aphasic, or have an autism spectrum disorder, Down Syndrome, central auditory dysfunction, impaired hearing, or a mental handicap. SMILE is different, using a phonetic method as a significant part of their program.

For full details, download the SMILE registration form either attached to this email or go to www.actbc.ca/smile\_sept\_2005.pdf

. You may register by calling 604-205-5467 or 1-866-939-5188 toll-free.

The early registration deadline is July 15th, 2005. Capacity is 30 people.

If you have received this email directly from ACT and do not wish to be on our email list please reply to this message with "remove" on the subject line. We will delete you from our service immediately. CA.
